A Toucaing Scene .- A French paper says, Lucilla Romee, a pretty little girl, with blue eyes and fair hair poorly but neatly clothed, was brought before the Sixth Court of Correction under a charge of vagrancy. "Does any one claim you ?" said the magistrate. "Ah! my good sir," she replied, " I have no longer any friends; my father and mother are dead. I have only my brother James, but he is as young as I am. O dear! what could he do for me !" "Here I am sister. Here I am : do not fear," cried a childish voice from the o her end the court. I very much wished to become an artizin, but at length I decided to look for a place; and I have found a very good one, where I am lodged, fed and clothed, and have 20 francs a month. I have also found a good woman, who, for these twenty francs, will take care of Lucilla and teach her needle work. I claim my sister." Lucilla, clasping her hands; "O, how good you are, James!" Magistrate to James: "My boy, your conduct is very honorable. The court encourages you to persevere in this course and you will prosper." The court then decided to render up Lucilla to James, and she was going from the bar to join her brother, when the magistrate, smiling, said " Never mind; Lucilla, I will come and fetch you early than any other house in the city.
